

EASTERN ANGLES' SPRING 2008 TOUR

CUCKOO TEAPOT

Written by Kate Griffin

Directed by Ivan Cutting

Every Autumn the breweries of Burton-on-Trent used to take young farm workers from Norfolk to help malt their barley....hence the phrase 'Gone-for-a-Burton'.

Labourers from 'The Norkies' worked hard, played hard and always brought their mums home a present of a large Staffordshire teapot.

In her new play Cuckoo Teapot Yorkshire-based writer Kate Griffin tells the story of Ned a young Norfolk lad who returned from The Potteries without a teapot, but with a baby instead!

As the drama unfurls we see 'Norkies' pitted against 'Burtonians' in a battle for jobs and a young couple, Joseph and Emily involved in a Romeo and Juliet-style love affair.
