

Ann Dixon

Ann has been involved in office administration and marketing for many years.

She spent four years as chief cashier at (the now defunct) Queensway Warehouses. Following that she worked for five years in the Marketing Dept at Cranes in Ipswich. Leaving there to start a family, she worked at home for two years for the London based College of Arms, producing, from their researchers notes, Family Trees going back to the 14th/15th Century. These had to be written on parchment in Copperplate handwriting and are held within their archives in London.

Returning to work outside the home, Ann spent four years in the Accounts Dept at Geest Shipping, before moving to Eastern Electricity where she spent five years in their Marketing section organising seminars and hospitality and helping to produce brochures and publicity material.

After having a six month break from work, she then joined Suffolk College in Ipswich as a 'Temp' in Reception for a year. She then became a permanent part of the Modular Degree team there, before moving into Leisure Learning where she became the Administrator and remained there for eleven years.

Ann joined Brundish Training Centre assisting on the Administration side, in 2006.

Her interests include, worldwide travel, entering competitions, sugarcraft and she loves watching football, rugby and F1 Motor Racing.
